PARADE GRAND MARSHALLS

"Steve and Janet King are well deserving of the recognition for this year's Grand Marshals. Upon moving to Highland they recognized the community as a special place to raise their family and because of their love and loyalty to the community, they have both given back many years of dedicated service as advisors to the Youth City Council and Youth Court," said Wini Jensen.

For seven years, STEVEN AND JANET KING have served the community and Highland youth by serving as advisers to the Highland Youth City Council (YCC). Through the leadership of the King's, this organization has provided service to the community through coordinated projects with Habitat for Humanity, the Senior Citizens Thanksgiving Dinner, the annual visit from Santa to the city building and the children's Easter Egg Hunt. Legacy projects which the YCC have helped provide to the city include flags at the City Cemetery, the sign at Heritage Park, entrance to the City markers, and markers at Mitchell Hollow Park.

"There are certain people who are born with the desire to be involved with their community through both their time and service and whose concern for the welfare of others is one of their top priorities. Janet is one of these people," said Tammy Hodson. We honor this organization, its youth and the selfless service of the Kings in providing Highland with legacy projects and improvements to the city. More importantly, the Kings have provided an environment in which the youth gain valuable leadership qualities and confidence.

To the Celts, the horse was one of the most important animal allies. Epona was the CELTIC HORSE GODDESS whose authority extended even beyond death, assisting the soul on its final journey. Her cult was adopted by the Roman army and they spread her worship wherever they went. She was the only Celtic Goddess to be honored by the Romans with a temple in their capital city. Epona is depicted sitting side saddle or lying on a horse, or standing with multiple horses around her.
